What is the Toronto Rent Bank?

The Toronto Rent Bank, a partnership between the City of Toronto and Neighbourhood Information Post (NIP), provides grants to eligible Toronto residents who are behind on their rent or need help with a rental deposit. By providing these grants, the Toronto Rent Bank ensures that people at risk have the support they need to stay in their homes and prevent homelessness.

The Toronto Rent Bank has made program changes to be more responsive to the needs of low-income individuals and families during the COVID-19 pandemic. These include:

- increasing the annual household income eligibility criteria
- freezing all Toronto Rent Bank loan repayments

Rent Relief is Here

If you are a Toronto resident and are behind on your rent, or need help with your first and last month's rent for a more affordable or suitable residence, you may be eligible to receive a Toronto Rent Bank grant.

You may be eligible for a Toronto Rent Bank grant if:

- you are living in Toronto
- you are within low income guidelines and not in receipt of social assistance*
- you are paying market rent
- you meet all other program requirements

Social assistance recipients can contact their Ontario Works (OW) or Ontario Disability Support Program (ODSP) office to ask about the Housing Stabilization Fund.*
